

PERMISSION SLIP FOR TECH THEATRE SCRIPTS

Your student will soon be looking through various material for our current group project (as well as future individual projects) in Tech Theatre and will need access to scripts and scores. I have my personal collection of scripts which they may use, but the works of some of the more recent writers contain adult language and situations which your student would be exposed to during a read through. For any actual presentation of an excerpt, I will censor most of the original language so that it is more appropriate for class.

Many of these authors are recognized as the outstanding authors of our era, such as Edward Albee, Neil Simon, A.R. Gurney, Tennessee Williams, Neil LaBute and Arthur Miller to name a few. If you personally do not want your student exposed to this type of literature, I need to know so that I might honor your wishes. Please specify if you also prefer that your student not be present during such a performance.

Please check the category that applies to you and sign your name.
